Eden University · Training plan overview

DRAFT for the planning session, Wed 11 Nov 2026 · Kev, Nick, Bridger · edit freely

Why we're doing this

Kev, 9 Nov: "This will be crucial as we continue to scale. Our hiring classes should be done in bunches... I want to ensure I'm not repeating myself, am bringing in fresh material and I am taking training seriously."

- One curriculum, two rooms. Kev trains from Boise. Vancouver keeps growing with continued education, and the next class is trained with purpose.
- Operational excellence first. Nick drives it. Bridger comes in behind Nick and runs the day to day for the hiring team.
- Built to scale. Every level is a track people move through in Claude, and the agents direct the interns' daily work.

The arc: six levels

Level	Name	Who	Span	Outcome	Signs off
0	Recruiter GPS	Every new hire, week 0	2 days	Knows where they're going and where they stand	Kev
1	Vision and 10-5-3-1	Every new hire; everyone yearly	1 week	A written 10-5-3-1 Kev has read	Kev
2	Operationally excellent at Eden	New class, weeks 1 to 4	4 weeks	Desk live, logging right, scorecard on time	Nick
3	Headhunter and niche expert	Months 1 to 6	5 months	Fills searches in their niche; talks like an insider	Nick
4	201 · CEO of your desk	Months 6 to 18	Year 1	Owns searches end to end; builds their own book	Kev
5	Pod leader	Year 2 on, by invitation	Ongoing	Runs a pod: scorecards, coaching, QC, lead gen, commission and payroll process	Kev

Nobody skips a level. Veterans enter at their real level. GPS and 10-5-3-1 already exist in Drive; Vancouver did them last year and updates them this November.

Chapters worth discussing

- 3.5 Niche deep-dives: one role family per session (precon vs estimating, VDC, superintendents, MEP, project executives, safety).
- 3.10 Who's buying: the hiring authorities, one per session. Covers the GM, VP of Operations, VP of Field Operations, Project Executive, Director of Precon, CFO or owner and Talent Acquisition manager: what each is measured on, what keeps them up at night, what they want from a recruiter.
- 4.8 to 4.11 The client side: selling above the line, emotional intelligence, servicing clients, and building deep relationships.
- 5.1 to 5.7 Pod leader: leading a pod, coaching, QC, lead-gen operations, commission and payroll process (process only), running a hiring class, account leadership.
- The session log: every Wednesday is logged by chapter code as new, a deeper pass or a refresher, so nothing repeats by accident. Dean sends Wednesday's chapters on Tuesday morning and a touch-up before the session.

Who does what

Person	Role in training
Kev	Teaches Wednesdays, runs Week 0 (GPS, vision, 10-5-3-1), signs off Levels 0, 1, 4 and 5
Nick	Drives operational excellence; owns the standard; leads each class and signs off Levels 2 and 3
Bridger	The hiring team's day-to-day operations lead under Nick; supervises the interns; seasons in over three classes (below)
Dean (agent)	Writes the chapters, keeps the session log, builds each Wednesday, reads the Friday scorecards
Q (agent)	Builds the Claude system: tracks, the progress engine, the shared Eden University project

Bridger's path under Nick

Stage	Bridger	Nick	Ready for the next stage when
1 · Shadow (next class)	Sits in on Week 0 and sign-offs; keeps the class tracker; runs the daily stand-up with Nick in the room	Leads and signs off	Tracker current daily; stand-ups on time
2 · Co-lead (second class)	Runs the day to day; first-pass QC on Crelate and submittals; coaching notes	Reviews his calls weekly; signs off	Nick changes fewer than 1 in 5 of his calls
3 · Lead day to day	Runs the class and reports to Nick	Owns the standard and certifications	Kev and Nick agree

Hiring classes in bunches

- Size and timing: two to five hires start the same Monday, at most one class every 6 to 8 weeks.
- Week 0, Levels 0 and 1: with Kev in Boise.
- Weeks 1 to 4, Level 2: self-serve in Claude. Nick leads; Bridger runs the day to day.
- From month 2: they join Wednesday Headhunter Training, plus their niche chapters.
- Interns: they run on their own tracks (below), with the same Week 0.

The intern pathways

Every intern is hourly, W-2, and paid for every hour including training. Each is in person in Boise (comms is hybrid), for a semester with a fixed end date, and reports to Bridger day to day.

Pathway	Title	What the job is	Course	Status
A	Operations Intern	Executive and admin support for Kev, Nick and Bridger: scheduling, travel options, follow-ups, onboarding trackers, lead-list checks. Never sees screening results or evaluations	28 modules, 12 weeks	Built
B	Sales Intern (Jr. Headhunter)	Half research, half phone on live construction searches, with a senior recruiter listening	27 modules, 12 weeks	Built
C	Client Success	Recruiter support on live searches	Not built yet	Gap
D1	Marketing Intern	Graphics, decks and brand pieces in the Eden standard; never posts	23 modules, 8 weeks	Built
D2	Brand and Communications Intern	LinkedIn scheduling, capture and video on Jenny's weekly plan	25 modules, 8 weeks	Built

What Bridger holds every intern to

Standard	What it looks like
Every hour on the clock	Clocked in before a module or task, out after; Bridger approves time weekly
Nothing leaves without an Approved mark	Interns draft; a leader approves; then it goes. They never send, post, book or spend on their own
Their own login, always	No shared passwords; no one works in Kev's or anyone else's account
Confidential by default	Clients and candidates stay private; no pay, health, family or age in any note
Proof for every module	A screenshot or a line in their Proof Sheet, checked within the week
Check-ins	Week 1, week 4, week 8 and the end review; leaders write and own every evaluation

How the interns take direction from our agents

The agents are being trained to be world class in their own roles. Each intern works under the agent whose role matches theirs: the agent sets the work, the intern does the human part, and a person approves anything that leaves Eden.

Pathway	Directed by	What the agent hands them each day	Human approval
A · Operations	Radar (chief of staff); Pam for project trackers; Dean for onboarding trackers	Request-log items as tickets, with the draft half done: invite drafts, travel options, tracker updates	Bridger; Kev or Nick for anything sent
B · Sales	Scout (lead lists with LinkedIn links); Ember (warm candidates due a touch); Casey (job orders and depth charts)	Call lists for the day's searches, touch reminders, the brief for each search	Senior recruiter and Bridger
C · Client Success (to build)	Casey	Board updates, client follow-up drafts, review packs	Kev
D1 · Marketing	Jenny (briefs); Marlowe (design check)	The week's design briefs and the brand standard	Jenny's check, then Kev to publish
D2 · Comms	Jenny (weekly content plan)	Post drafts, shot lists, the schedule	Kev approves every post

The loop, every day: the agent opens a ticket on the Command Center, the intern picks it up and does the work in their own account, and the agent checks the quality. Bridger approves the intern's part, and Kev or Nick approves anything outward. Agents never send for an intern, and interns never approve for an agent.

Before the first intern starts

Gate	Owner
Idaho payroll live (registration, unemployment, withholding, workers' comp in Gusto)	Joel
The hourly rate set; the posting cleared	Kev; Docket clears wording
The signed paper: offer letter, confidentiality, content-ownership for D1 and D2	Docket drafts; Kev signs
Bridger's time protected for supervising	Kev and Nick

The next six Wednesdays (proposed)

Date	Construction	Recruiting
11 Nov	3.5 Superintendents, with 3.10 who hires them (GM vs VP of Field Ops)	1.2 10-5-3-1 November update
18 Nov	3.4 How a GC is organised, with 3.10 VP of Ops vs GM	4.8 Selling above the line
25 Nov	(Thanksgiving week, short)	4.6 Autopsy: read your own scorecard
2 Dec	3.5 MEP	4.10 Servicing clients; 4.2 intake
9 Dec	3.5 Project executives, with 3.10 what a PX wants	4.9 Emotional intelligence
16 Dec	3.5 Safety managers, with 3.10 the Talent Acquisition manager	3.3 Sourcing: Boolean and X-ray

Decide on 11 Nov

1. The six levels and chapter names: keep, cut, add?
2. Class cadence: at most one class every 6 to 8 weeks?
3. Bridger's three stages under Nick: right shape, and does stage 1 start with the next class?
4. Intern pathways: which ones hire first, and who builds Client Success (C)?
5. The agent-to-intern map: right agents for each pathway?
6. Who owns the November 10-5-3-1 updates for Vancouver, and by when?
